These are the lectionary readings for Holy Week 2020. While all the readings are shown here, the main focus for our Meditations will be on those from John's Gospel. You may wish to use the other readings to guide your personal devotions during the week.

John's Gospel provides us with a detailed account of Jesus' words and actions in the days leading up to the Crucifixion. As we journey towards the Cross again this Holy Week, we consider those words and actions, the effect they had on the people who encountered Jesus in those days, and what the Gospel has to teach us about our journey today. May this journey be one of encounter for us, as we gather together to worship the one who has shown us the Way.
